Food Security

We encourage sustainable projects that involve the hard working individuals of the local community. We believe in team work and helping each other, which brings out value of self-worth and using our unique skills to accomplish lasting change.

Our projects include:

- Investing in land and planting of maize that is milled for flour, consumed for porridge and posho meals.
- Hiring of local farmers to harvest crops of maize, beans and matoke and cassava.
- Feeding programs run by volunteers in the community for orphaned children and those in need.
- Many people in rural communities cook over open fires. We are currently building a safe cookhouse that has running water and electricity.

ROOTA

LOOMS

ROOTA initiated a home loom program for the Zabaleen women by providing home looms for them in their shacks. We visit them and assign a carpenter to develop a loom to fit the size of their shack allowing them an opportunity to work from home and produce an extra income to help with the family expenses.

Meal Program

Our Meal Program serves between 1,400 - 1,800 meals a week.

Sitting across the table from someone is a great way to build community, so meals are very important to us. They create the connection point for us to build on our three values: Relationship, Justice and Beauty.
